

A Tafelmusik Tribute to Jeanne Lamon

Image Credits

Tafelmusik is deeply grateful to the following:

The Lamon family and Christina Mahler for the use of family photographs.

Elizabeth Ganiatsos for her beautiful photos of San Marco Basilica and the former location of Santo Serafin's violin shop in Venice.

Glenn Davidson for his lively shots of Tafelmusik on tour and for photographing Jeanne Lamon's violin.

Barbara Willis Sweete for her footage of shoreline and waves.

Marshall Pynkoski and Jeannette Lajeunesse Zingg for sharing Bruce Zinger's photographs of the Opera Atelier production of Lully's Armide.

David Fallis for his photographs of clouds over Lake Huron.

The following images were also used:

- Portrait of Elisa Citterio: Monica Cordiviola.
- Photographs of the Tafelmusik Summer & Winter Institutes: Marina Dempster, Gary Beechey.
- Photographs of Tafelmusik Orchestra and Choir concerts and events: Gary Beechey, Daniel Banko, Dahlia Katz, Sian Richards.
- Canaletto, The Riva della Schiavoni, Venice, 1731. Tatton Park, Cheshire, UK. The National Trust Photo Library/Alamy Stock Photo.
- Photo of the Grand Canal in Venice: Image Broker/Alamy Stock Photo.
- Orazio Gentileschi, Young Woman Playing a Violin, c.1612. Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit.
- Photographs of Synagogue of El Tránsito, Toledo, Spain: Classic Image/Alamy Stock Photos.
- Emanuel de Witte, Interior of the Portuguese Synagogue in Amsterdam, 1680. Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam.
- Romeyn de Hooghe, The Schoolyard by the Portuguese Synagogue in Amsterdam, c.1695. Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam.
- Gerrit Adriaenszoon Berckheyde, The Dam Square in Amsterdam, 1672. Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam.
- Esther scroll from Germany, early 18th century. The Israel Museum, Jerusalem. Alamy Images (Godong).
- Autograph manuscript of the Allemande from the French Suite no. 4 by J.S. Bach. Staatsbibliothek zu Berlin - PK
- Footage of the 2014 Bach Festival in Leipzig: Alex Ross.